

Tropical Storm Arlene Causes 17 Deaths in Mexico

Arlene, the first named storm of the Atlantic hurricane season, has killed at least 17 people and affected thousands of other residents throughout Mexico.

According to the country's emergency director of the civil protection agency, ever since the hit around late June, a rise in death toll and more intense storms are expected while a brief stoppage is ongoing.